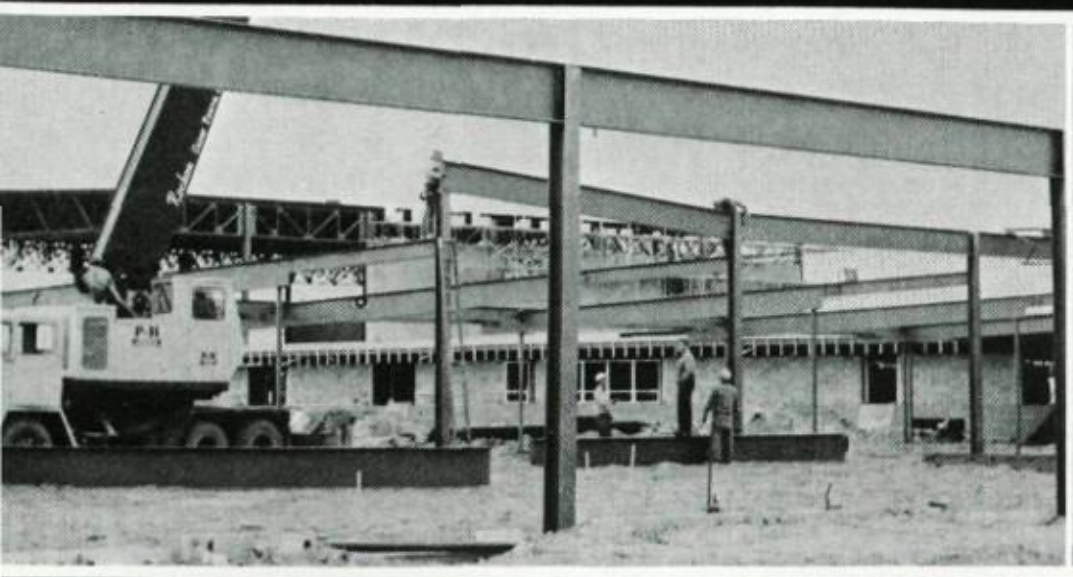
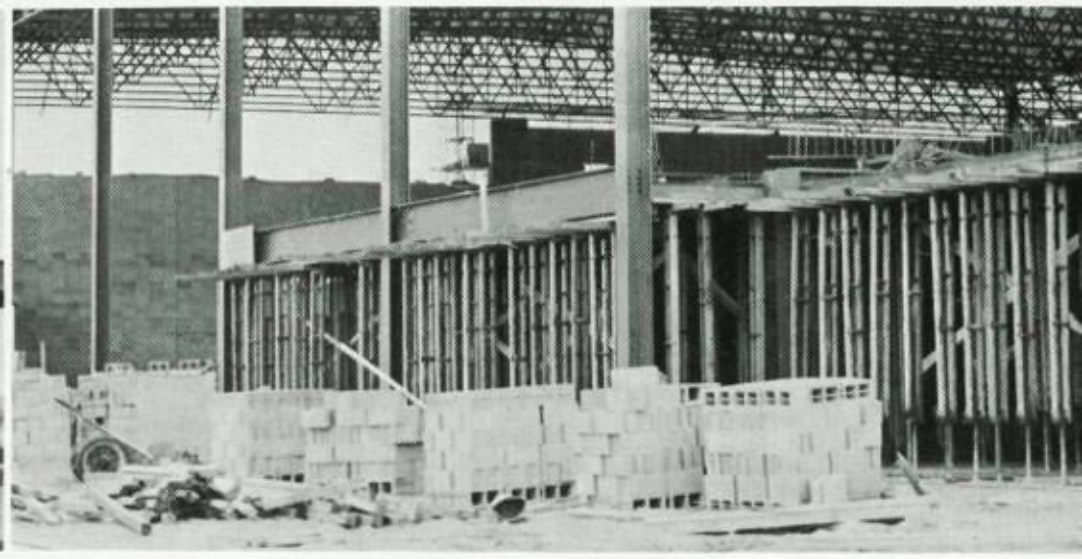
Warrior 1969

Published by the Last Senior Class
Straughn High School
Straughn, Indiana

A school is a place with people. People make the memories.



People are this year causing a series of contrasts in our school environment. There is feverish activity at the construction site of the new Tri High School, as activity slows, and slowly and finally, comes to a halt at the old Straughn High School. There is much looking forward in anticipation of the new, the fresh, the greater promise, and a looking back, with mingled feelings, to the old memories and the mellow familiar surroundings.



Life consists only of now, placed precisely between memory and anticipation. A final year and these empty halls will be filled with the shadows and echoes of forty years of service to a community and its people.

The hopes and dreams of 1969 in a new building repeat, in variations, those of another generation in 1929.

Memories are individual and collective

Sheer fun

Spontaneous chorus lines in the old dugout . . .

Enthralled detachment

Endless bus rides

. . . Stuffed lockers and halls

Separate dreams

All to be united in Tri High!

Appreciation

We, the 1969 graduating class, wish to dedicate this annual to all the alumni and patrons of our school.

We dedicate it, also, to the Straughn and New Lisbon communities in an effort to express our gratitude for the encouragement, support, and interest we have received during our school lives.

We especially dedicate our annual to our sponsor, Mrs. Ferrell, for the consideration and guidance she has so faithfully given to us as our sponsor for the past six years. Thank you, Mrs. Ferrell.

Presenting the Class of SHS

As the activity at the construction site of the new Tri High Building slows, approaching the inevitable completion of the task, completely contrasting events are taking place at the old Straughn High Building.

The students are rushing headlong through activities which always accompany the completion of another school year.

The Seniors, as all graduating classes do, push onward at the greatest speed possible, with a new, free, and more exciting life beckoning to them. They, perhaps, do not yet appreciate this place, where they have spent six years of their lives.

And what of the others? As their predecessors did, they dream of a hurried end to this old year, and the beginning of new experiences in the years following, which will be crowned by graduation. This anticipation is heightened by the added excitement of entering a new school building next year. Underclassmen, too, therefore, do not notice their surroundings, and, in turn, miss what many consider the passing of an era.

But this is as it should be. For isn't life only the appreciation, for a time, at any rate, of what happens now?

Warrior Staff

The main, and most expensive, project of the Senior Class is the publication of the Annual each year. This requires many, many hours of, sometimes tedious, work that others never know about. If the class produces a book that captures the feeling of the year, however, the staff is well-repaid for those hours.

Mark and Cathie, Sports Editors, helped Mr. Cooney with all pictures. Arnel, Business Manager, and Brad, Layout, take time out. Unstoppable Dave and camera for candids

Sports

Although the construction of the new school building fell behind schedule and prevented the full consolidation of Straughn, Lewisville, and Spiceland, the sports departments of the three schools combined to fulfill the schedules which had been made so long before.

Forced by circumstances to play as a unit, the schools were at a disadvantage that they never seemed to recognize. They played well together, as schoolmates are expected to play.

The idea that Straughn would lose its identity in sports was soon forgotten. The memories of Straughn's past athletics—the glory, the happiness and excitement, the school unity, the pride, and all the other qualities that made our past so grand to remember—were not to be succeeded by memories of lesser appeal.

The pride and faith that have been displayed this year toward Tri High School can only be interpreted as a promise of greatness to be—not only in sports, but in all aspects of school excellence.

Memories were also made in grade school in New Lisbon, so one day the seniors and Mrs. Ferrell went to New Lisbon to reminisce about the long ago with four of their grade school teachers: Ethel Bridges, Vernetta Willis, Marguerite Baker, and Martha Herr. NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The activities of Straughn's Honor Society this year were as varied as its members. Its members helped with the career day at Spiceland. They visited the State Hospital at New Castle and entertained the patients. They held candy sales to earn money for the dinner in honor of the Senior members. Every month, they explored major issues at their meetings.

Student Council

A long-standing tradition, at programs sponsored by the Student Council, is the solemn moment when the flag is carried in by the six class presidents and is raised for the Pledge to the Flag by the student body.

Another tradition is the council-sponsored magazine sales drive each year. Money is used for the year's convocations. Top salesmen this year were Dean Briar, Cliff Batson, and Debbie Luellen.

Student Council members include Danny Williams, Lorna Mullen, Barbara Alder, Paul Huffman, Linda Crandall, Bruce Palin, John Werking, Jayne Rust, Charles Scott, Jo Ellen Wooten, Mike New, Kathleen Chew.
